ON THE FORECOURTS: Petrol sales have seen a sharp increase this week

Panic buying causes long queues at petrol stations

LONG queues formed at petrol stations throughout Luton and Dunstable as demand for fuel increased this week.

The number of people buying petrol and diesel shot up after Government ministers called for drivers to top up their vehicles in case of a tanker drivers' strike.

This picture shows drivers queuing for fuel at the BP garage on Mount Pleasant Road, Luton on Thursday morning. There were also numerous reports of queues at the ESSO garage in Dunstable Road, ASDA in Wigmore and the Total Station in Stopsley Village.

Nationally, demand for petrol rose 172 per cent on Thursday, and diesel by 77 per cent, according to independent retailers' group RMI Petrol.

EXCLUSIVE

BY LUI STRACCIA

lui.straccia@lutonsunday.co.uk

A POLICE complaints investigator is being investigated by a member of her own department over an allegation of improper conduct.

Villager Patrick Smith, of Hyde Road, Caddington, claims a Detective Inspector told him she would only continue a criminal investigation into alleged computer offences committed against Mr Smith if he dropped a previous complaint he had made against another officer in the same department.

So Mr Smith dropped his original complaint and, after a full investigation into the computer offences allegations, Bedfordshire Police 'found no evidence to support a criminal charge'.

Mr Smith then made a second complaint - this time alleging improper conduct against the DI, who is a member of the force's Professional Standards Unit.

Beds Police applied to the Independent Police Complaints Commission

COMPLAINANT: Patrick Smith

(IPCC) watchdog to have it thrown out - without the need to investigate it - on the grounds it was 'vexatious and without foundation and is intended to worry, annoy or harass', but this was rejected.

But Mr Smith believes it is now inappropriate for Beds Police to internally investigate the improper conduct complaint due to a 'conflict of interest' although the IPCC said the matter should be dealt with by Beds Police. He said: "The issue now is that police's professional standards department want to investigate a complaint against their own investigating officer from their own department, using another investigating officer from the same department."

"The complaint is that an officer from the department has acted unprofessionally, by offering what could be seen to be a 'bribe' to a member of the public to withdraw a complaint against another investigating officer.

"The police have attempted to get my complaint thrown out with a letter to the IPCC, and in my opinion the wording used in their letter shows it was designed to discredit me."

"This makes any investigation by this police force biased against me, and there is a conflict of interest in using an investigating officer from their own professional standards department to investigate another officer from the same unit."

An IPCC spokesman said: "We've advised the force they should now examine the allegation against a Bedfordshire Police officer."

A police spokeswoman said: "Our Professional Standards Unit received a complaint and sought dispensation from the IPCC."

"The IPCC did not allow the dispensation."

"This means Bedfordshire Police are now required to review the complaint."

"This is now being reviewed."

A RESIDENT has complained of drinkers taking over a town centre street.

The Cheapside tenant claims police have been told about the problem but appear to not be addressing the issue.

This picture was taken at 3pm on Thursday and a small group can be seen drinking in public.

The resident, who we agreed not to name, said: "I thought there was a no drinking thing going on in town centres.

"I have called the police three times and they haven't bothered coming out to see what is going on.

"They are there all day and all night. It seems we have

Complaint made over drinking on streets

A group of people gathered in the seating area at Cheapside been taken over by them. It's got to the point that we are having to take different routes to get back to our homes to avoid them.

"On a couple of occasions we have had people using drugs in the main entrance to our flats. I am actually thinking of moving out because of it all. It's just constant noise and trouble."

A council spokeswoman confirmed it had received a complaint and added: "In the coming financial year 2012/2013 the Community Safety Partnership will be carrying out more detailed work into combating street drinking in Luton. If members of the public have any concerns about street drinking and any associated anti-social behaviour they should ring 101."

A police spokeswoman said: "We work closely with Luton Borough Council to crack down on those who cause anti-social behaviour. We have recorded the complaints from this gentleman and are pursuing an investigation into those responsible."

High Street will get a £100k cash boost

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

LUTON High Street will receive £100,000 from the Government's High Street Innovation Fund Grant - as recommended by retail expert Mary Portas.

The town is one of 100 in the country to share the £10million grant as part of the Government's package of help for high streets, it was announced on Friday. The High Street Innovation Fund, from taxpayers' money, will focus on bringing empty shops back into use and supporting new business start-ups.

Housing and Local Government Minister Grant Shapps confirmed that the Government is accepting the vast majority of Mary's recommendations and intends to go further, with its 'Portas-Plus' response which includes new incentives and funding schemes to rejuvenate the country's high streets.

Mr Shapps said: "Mary Portas' review made crystal clear the stark challenge our high streets face. With internet shopping and out-of-town centres here to stay, they must offer something new if they are to entice visitors back. Her report has provided the catalyst for change that many towns have been craving.

"I now want to see people coming together to form their own town teams and turning their creative ideas into reality to ensure their high streets thrive long into the future."

Cllr Roy Davis said: "This funding is good news for Luton and will allow the council to continue its work with businesses and landlords to bring empty shops back into use.

"Unlike many other towns and cities, our main shopping streets in the Mall, George Street and Bury Park are doing well, however this gives us a chance focus on some of the secondary shopping streets in and around the town.

"It will also allow us to investigate the possibility of using the funding to support business rate discounts for new start-up businesses taking on empty properties."

Furniture fire tackled

FIREFIGHTERS were called to tackle a blaze caused by furniture being set alight.

Crews were called to the scene in Crawley Road, Luton at around 3pm on Thursday to find the fire at the rear of a block of flats.

Firefighters in breathing apparatus used a hose reel to quickly put out the blaze.

A spokesman for the fire service confirmed that nobody was injured, and said: "The fire was enough to cause concern but did not cause any property damage."

newsbriefs

PUB PLANS REFUSED

PROPOSALS to construct a conservatory on the flat roof of the vacant Winston Churchill pub in Dunstable have been rejected.

The plans were submitted by agent Tata Miah on behalf of an applicant who wanted to turn the premises into a restaurant.

If agreed, the conservatory would have provided restaurant seating and a storage area.

Central Bedfordshire Council turned down the application on the grounds that the construction would have an 'adverse effect' on the amenities and would be 'overbearing'.

MEETINGS REDUCED

THE number of council Area Committee meetings per year will be reduced from four to three per year, it was decided this week.

The committee meetings provide a regular platform for residents to talk to their ward councillors about their concerns.

Leader of Luton Liberal Democrats, David Franks, opposed the changes saying: "I thought that in Luton we had a shared view to give Area Committees more responsibility, more power and more influence."

STAY SAFE THIS EASTER

AMBULANCE crews are urging people to stay safe and well over the Easter period and choose the right health services for their condition.

The NHS Choose Well campaign is directing people to 999 or A&E for serious and life-threatening illnesses and injuries only, otherwise other options such as GP services and walk-in centres should be considered.

Ambulance service spokesman Neil Storey said: "Crews see an increase in collisions involving children over the school holidays so youngsters should be taught and encouraged to follow simple road safety rules, while adults should keep themselves well by avoiding over-indulgence."

Affair teacher lied to get a new job

JAILED: Alison Goodchild

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutonsunday.co.uk

A TEACHER who harassed her ex-lover and his family also doctored an assessment to make her look like a 'better teacher' when applying for a new job.

Alison Goodchild, 31, a former Ashcroft High School science teacher, was on Thursday jailed for six weeks for the campaign of harassment of Dean Bull and his wife.

Goodchild had been having an affair with Mr Bull, a colleague at the school, for about a year before he broke it off. In court, her defence solicitor Angela Kerner described him as Goodchild's 'first love'.

Mrs Kerner said: "She had not had any serious long-term relationships. She was vulnerable to the intimacy she developed with him."

Goodchild, who has been a guide leader for 19 years, spray painted the Bulls' garage and car, with insults such as 'Dean is a ' and 'Fat disrespectful b' over a period of four months.

She also sent unwanted takeaway deliveries to their house, as well as catalogues, most days. When she was arrested, a phone in her car was traced as being the number that was used to order the take-aways.

At Luton Magistrates' Court a charge of fraud was also put to her to which she pleaded guilty.

Prosecutor Jason Wolfe said she applied for a job with EduTeach in November last year and changed a classroom assessment of her as it highlighted a number of weaknesses.

He said: "[The interviewer] received the document he noted that it appeared to may well have been changed to make it look better."

"He contacted the maker of the report and there were immediate differences."

Goodchild had removed half of the problems attributed to her as well as changing her status from a Newly Qualified Teacher to a Qualified Teacher (QT).

Mrs Kerner said at the time of the job application she was a QT but did not want to ask Ashcroft for a later assessment as her relationship with the school had 'broken down'.

She was sent to prison for a further 12 weeks for the fraud charge, making a total of 18 weeks imprisonment.

Jailing her, chairman of the magistrates Michael Garrett said: "For a professional lady, this was planned to deceive and would have put you into a position of trust. No other sentence, as far as we are concerned, is appropriate."

She was also given a restraining order against the Bulls, and part of her bail conditions restrict her from going anywhere near Ashcroft High School in Crawley Green Road, Luton.

Goodchild faces another charge of perverting the course of justice and will appear at Luton Crown Court in July.

The runaway train rolled down the track from station

A RAIL firm has launched an investigation after a runaway train carrying passengers was left unmanned after its driver is believed to have left the cab and was on the platform.

The drama unfolded on the Bedford to St Pancras line at Harlington train station last Saturday where it's understood the driver got out of his cab to inspect a fault in one of the carriages which had prevented passengers from disembarking at Leagrave station.

As the First Capital Connect (FCC) employee checked the problem the Bedford-bound train is believed to have begun rolling away from the station and down the track with no-one at its helm.

Eyewitnesses are said to have reported seeing the driver chase the vehicle along the platform before clambering back into his cab to bring the train to a halt. It is understood FCC has suspended the Bedford based driver while an investigation takes place.

FCC spokesman Roger Perkins said: "We can confirm that there was a minor incident at Harlington station."

"This is under investigation and a preliminary review of the evidence available shows that at no time were passengers placed in any danger and onboard safety systems would have brought the train to a standstill.

"Until the investigation is complete and the full facts are known, it would not be appropriate to comment further. The Rail Accident Investigation Branch has been advised of the incident in line with reporting guidelines."

Going behind the scenes of iconic BBC studios

UNIVERSITY students and staff got the chance to walk in the footsteps of TV stars when they visited the BBC TV Centre in London.

The Television Production and Media Performance students and staff at the University of Bedfordshire were given a tour of the iconic building, where shows including Blue Peter, Strictly Come Dancing and Dr Who were recorded.

Kathryn Wolfe, course leader of Television Production, spent several years working there as a TV director.

She said: "Even though I worked there on programmes such as Playschool, Jackanory,

ON TOUR: Students Sadie Jones, James Spooner and Chloe Baxter

Newsround and Record Breakers, the tour was a fascinating opportunity to see behind the scenes. It's a great shame that the building is up for sale." The visitors were shown around the BBC newsroom, Dr Who's Tardis, the studio recording of quiz show Pointless, the Blue Peter set, a star dressing room, a typical studio interior, and they also saw how blue screen special effects are created.

They then took part in an interactive TV show as presenters and production team.

Television production lecturer Anthony Greenbank said: "This was an inspirational visit to one of our most iconic landmarks."

"The students were able to see what goes on inside the doughnut and even got the opportunity to try their hand at presenting the weather and The Weakest Link."

"We hope that some of them will get the chance to work at BBC Television Centre before it closes down for good."

Force staff investigated for data rules 'breaches'

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

FIVE police staff allegedly broke rules by accessing information held on the force's computer systems last year.

Of the five investigations into the alleged breaches, three are still ongoing, while in the other two the staff resigned before they were completed.

One of the current investigations concerns an allegation that a Bedfordshire Police staff member 'unlawfully accessed police intelligence systems numerous times for non-police purposes', while the others refer to two staff who allegedly searched police records to find information held on family and friends.

A police spokeswoman said: "These types of incidents are rare, it is often the vigilance of other colleagues that starts an investigation into unlawful conduct."

"The Anti-Corruption Unit proactively seeks out illegal activity by any police employees."

"The force constantly monitor use of IT systems to detect suspicious activity and will deal robustly with individuals who chose to access sensitive information without a valid policing purpose."

The current investigations do not relate to the cases of former Beds Police officers and staff Mark Wilkie, Hannah Quince or Jonpaul Pasqualone from earlier this year.

Wilkie used his phone to contact 12 women and harassing them after obtaining their phone numbers from police systems and was jailed for more than three years, while Quince was jailed for 15 months in January after being found guilty of searching computers to find out what information police had on her boyfriend's friend.

Pasqualone admitted to doctoring police custody records to say a Bedford man was an informant.

School praised for its arts and crafts in report

AN Ofsted report looking at art, craft and design education in schools and colleges has recommended a school in Luton as an example of best practice.

Whilst the study stated that not enough schools develop their pupils' creativity through confident drawing, Ickneild High School was praised for its work teaching art and drawing skills.

The 'Making a mark: art, craft and design 2008-2011', report which was published on Friday, highlighted that weaknesses in the teaching of drawing have not been addressed since Ofsted's last report.

Ofsted Director of Education, Jean Humphrys, said: "All schools could learn by the good example set for Ickneild High School."

"Children's ability to appreciate and interpret what they observe is influenced by the quality of their art, craft and design education."

"I would like to see teachers getting better access to professional development."

Everyone deserves a break in life!

Fees will be waived for jubilee party road closures

ORGANISING Diamond Jubilee street parties has been made easier with the announcement road closure charges will be waived.

Central Bedfordshire Council has made a traffic order meaning any fees that would normally be incurred for road closures during the celebrations will not have to be paid.

Cllr Brian Spurr said: "The council wants to make it as easy as possible for residents to organise their event but also to ensure that they are safe for everyone taking part."

"Depending on the type of event different rules may apply so it is worth checking first."

Street party organisers should inform the council as soon as possible which roads they would like closed and for how long by completing an application form and returning it before May 1. Forms are available at www.centralbedfordshire.gov.uk/jubilee

Petition backed to reject change to constituency

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

SOUTH West Bedfordshire MP Andrew Selous has submitted a petition to Parliament which aims to stop Dunstable becoming part of a Luton constituency.

The petition, which was signed by more than 2,000 people, was started by Central Bedfordshire councillor Ann Sparrow, in light of proposals to cut the number of parliamentary constituencies in the UK.

An independent review proposed that Dunstable, whose MP is Tory Mr Selous (pictured top), would become part of Luton North, currently represented by Labour's Kelvin Hopkins.

This week the leader of Central Bedfordshire Council also wrote to the Boundary Commission to oppose the same proposals. Conservative Cllr James Jamieson (pictured bottom) submitted a letter which read: 'Continuity of local linkages is vital and I have highlighted the huge number of representations made by people in and around Dunstable who strongly disagree with the proposed Luton North constituency.'

When asked about why he sent the letter he said: "One of my concerns is that representation of Central Beds would be weakened."

"If the changes went ahead, the MP in charge of the new Luton North constituency would probably spend 70 per cent of their time in Luton and 30 per cent in Dunstable.

"If an issue arose between Luton and Dunstable as there has been in the past, it would be possible that the MP would fall on Luton's side."

Bread firm fined £9k for breaking rules on safety

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

A NAAN bread manufacturer was warned five years prior to an investigation into its health and safety failings that it needed to improve - but failed to act on the advice.

On Monday, Honeytop Speciality Foods Limited appeared at Luton Magistrates' Court to plead guilty to the offences from early 2010.

The company, which changed ownership in August 2010 and employs more than 400 people, was fined £9,015 in total.

A Health and Safety Executive (HSE) investigation discovered that flour dust, which can cause occupational asthma, was at six times the legal limit.

There were also insufficient measures in place to separate workers from moving vehicles, failure to control risks from lifting heavy items.

Honeytop House

It is the second time the company has been in trouble with the law, when last June six illegal immigrants were arrested at the factory in Woodside Industrial Estate, Dunstable.

It was also said in court that Honeytop had employed an external company in 2005 to assess its flour levels and had been told it needed to do something about it, but five years later nothing had been improved. HSE Inspector Emma Rowlands told Magistrates: "It was understood by Honeytop that a vacuum system for removing surplus flour was being considered."

"Five years later there was no evidence any of those control measures had been implemented."

After the case, HSE Inspector Emma Rowlands, said: "Ignorance is no defence and in this case the company's management was in denial of its responsibilities."

"In a bread factory it is quite obvious that there will be a lot of flour dust in the atmosphere, and in this case workers were being exposed to up to six times the legal limit, yet Honeytop Speciality Foods did nothing to identify what protective measures should have been in place to prevent its workers from being exposed to it."

Honeytop refused to comment.

Why chop cleaning cash?

SIR - The decision this week by Labour Luton Borough Council to reduce the budget and programme for street cleaning is a further example of a council which has no interest in the quality of Luton's streets.

When the Liberal Democrats took control of the council in 2003, the annual budget for street cleaning was increased by £800,000 and the result was dramatic. Every street was cleaned regularly and the quality of the environment was dramatically enhanced. Labour has no such interest in our town.

They reduced the budget, and therefore the street cleaning programme by £34,000 in 2010, in 2011 they reduced it by a further £100,000 and in 2012 by a further £262,000. Labour also have the gall to say that these reductions in street cleaning will not affect the amount of litter in our streets.

And they are not prepared to divert any effort into enforcement to take action against the minority of people who drop the litter.

This latest cut, like the previous cuts, is blamed on the Coalition Government. However, the cut made in 2010 was made under the Labour Government and the subsequent excuses take no responsibility for the budget deficit that was inherited from Labour.

The result of this feeble Labour council's decisions is already becoming visible with litter and dirty streets becoming ever more common.

Planning ahead is key

SIR - Can I say how delighted I was to read of the building of a new youth centre in Luton.

However, 40 years ago the council built a similarly state-of-the-art centre - Luton Youth House (I remember it being the place to go in my teens) and in the early 80s I ran the youth club there.

So my question is, why was Luton Youth House ever knocked down?

It had a working garage, a gym, a weights room - it may have needed refurbishment but such refurbishment would have cost an awful lot less than a brand new building.

This demonstrates the curse of many of the politically expedient decisions our councillors tend to be forced to make, short-term planning which costs us all in the long run, not just in monetary terms but in terms of the lack of provision and opportunity for our young people.

Luton Youth House was open all day and evening and when I worked there was an important lifeline for young people at a time of high unemployment. Only recently my daughter bumped into one of the young people from those days who told her 'your mum changed my life'.

So, a big thank you to all those involved in this project, but a word of caution too - let's hope this important resource doesn't fall foul of future political expediency and lasts longer than Luton Youth House did.

Airport referendum call

SIR - Regarding the proposed Luton Airport expansion.

Budget will leave pensioners 'bruised'

SIR - I share the criticisms made by Britain's biggest pensioner organisation, the National Pensioners Convention's (NPC), of the budget announcement for failing to address the serious concerns of Britain's 11 million older people.

Millions of pensioners have been living in poverty, uncertainty, and in fear of old age, disability, rising cost of living and changes in healthcare provisions.

The attack on older pensions over 65 by the millionaire Chancellor and his proposal to merge the basic and second state pensions into a single £140 a week payment is a classic case of smoke and mirrors - given that someone could retire today and get a combined basic and second state pension of £150 a week.

In reality there will be no extra money to raise Britain's scandalously low state pension - just a different way of packaging the payment.

Not only that but it will also create a two-tier pension system with existing pensioners still having to struggle with a complicated means-tested system that leaves one in four older people in poverty.

The announcement of an automatic review of the state pension age is clearly a forerunner to making people work up to 70 and beyond.

The chancellor is effectively stealing retirement years from millions of ordinary workers whose life expectancy is far lower than the very richest in society.

This will hurt the low paid, part time workers in the north much more than the bankers in the city.

The decision to freeze the age related personal tax allowances effectively means around five million pensioner taxpayers will no longer get additional reductions in their tax over the coming years - whilst those on the top rate of tax will see their bills reduced.

Many older people will feel they are being asked to forego their reduction in tax to help out the super rich. There's no fairness in that.

The Chancellor's pledge to cut welfare payments by £10bn over the next few years will also worry millions of pensioners who may think their bus passes and winter fuel allowances might be under threat and the long-awaited social care white paper is being delayed, without any explanation, while around a million older people are struggling with a broken care system that leaves many with expensive care that is often of a poor quality.

The money the chancellor is giving away in tax breaks for the richest in society would fund a National Care Service for all those in need. Pensioners will feel bruised by this budget.

We need cash clarity

SIR - I am amazed that in LutonLine, Cllr Hazel Simmons states that in two years, savings of £35 million have been achieved.

In the pamphlet entitled Council Tax for 2012/2013, it is stated that the council's debt will be £293.3 million for the current year and increase over the next two years by £122.1 million. This equates to an additional debt of £1,581.27 for every household in Luton.

Also in the 2012/13 pamphlet no mention is made of the increased income from Luton Airport, now £5.9 million for year, and the income from parking fines is not mentioned which seems to increase every year.

It would be interesting to know how many employees are currently employed compared to 2010.

I believe that the council should be held responsible for ensuring complete clarity and honesty as to where the money comes from, where it is used, and what action it takes to ensure same.

Wonderful St Patrick's day

SIR - I was very honoured to be invited to the 13th Annual St Patrick's Parade on Saturday, March 17.

On a wet morning the dignitaries stood on the steps of the Luton Town Hall to watch the parade while Ciaran Byre First Secretary for Culture & Political from the Embassy of Ireland had the unenviable task of judging the best groups and individuals. Everybody joined the parade behind the pipe band and marched to the stage at Market Hill where the shamrock was handed out.

After the pipe band had played, a wonderful demonstration of Irish dancing took place where one of the lads performing was the world champion.

The Luton Irish Forum, which runs the St Patrick's Festival, looks after 20,000 Irish in and around Luton providing advice for older and most vulnerable members of the Irish and other communities.

Other activities include a comprehensive Irish culture programme.

Their new building in Hitchin Road Luton was recently opened by Edna Kenny a Taoiseach (Irish Prime Minister). Despite the rain hundreds of people enjoyed a wonderful day.

Join church this Easter

SIR - I am writing as a member of 35 years of the Holy Cross Church, Marsh Farm, which is The Church of England.

It was with some surprise that I found a leaflet in your paper on Sunday proclaiming that the Redeemer Church of God, complete with free gift and food, was meeting at Holy Cross Church.

It is not. They do indeed meet in our 'Church Hall' which they hire from us, and not in the Church itself. On Easter Sunday, we at Holy Cross Church will be having a beautiful service at 10am, with incense, flowers and beautiful organ music.

The only free food however will be the eucharist, and the only free gift will be God. Come and join us.

■ Watching this particular problem on the show two weeks ago, made me understand and realise that I was suffering from the same condition. I'd spent years doing pelvic floor exercises and buying devices and weights to strengthen what I thought was just very poor muscle tone after having my three children.

Thank you to this lady who was brave enough to show me and many others that we were actually suffering from a medical condition.

I went straight to my doctor and am now waiting for surgery. I've wondered how she is since.

easyJet's tax fears

■ Personally I do not agree with APD which simply is a revenue earner for the Governments.

However I do not agree with the likes of Luton-based easyJet senior management staff earning their bonuses which can exceed a million pounds. Chief executive Carolyn McCall who has probably no background to air travel prior to her position at easyJet, speaks the truth when she states that the youth needs jobs. I hope she and her fellow management will turn down any future bonuses and reinvest it in local youths who need jobs?

Sham marriage man not allowed to live in the UK

BY LUI STRACCIA

lui.straccia@lutononsunday.co.uk

A BANGLADESHI immigrant who got into the UK on the back of a sham marriage to a Polish national has had his residency revoked.

If police catch up with Abdul Jalil they will arrest him over his non-existent relationship with Katarzyna Szubiak, who was part of a Luton-based sham marriage ring.

After that, Mr Jalil will either be charged with conspiring to facilitate a breach of immigration law or simply thrown out of the country.

Last month Luton on Sunday revealed that Szubiak, 25, and her sister Agata Szubiak, 31, were given a total of £2,500 and £1,500 respectively, so that fake marriages could be set up as part of applications for UK residency cards for Pakistani and Bangladeshi nationals.

The cards grant non-EU nationals permission to stay in the country for five years and allow them to work and claim benefits.

The UK Border Agency (UKBA) arrested Katarzyna on April 27 last year as she had allowed her ID documents to be used in the fraudulent application for residency by her sham marriage partner, Mr Jalil, a Bangladeshi national who managed to secure a five-year stay but is currently 'yet to be traced'.

The revocation of his residency means that he no longer has permission to be in the country and cannot legally access work or benefits.

Katarzyna Szubiak

A UKBA spokesman said: "He has been wanted on suspicion of conspiring to facilitate a breach of immigration law since questions were first raised last year about the legitimacy of his marriage to Katarzyna Szubiak - who as you know has been convicted. That situation remains the same."

"If he is encountered he will be arrested on suspicion of that offence with a view to prosecution."

"If we do not proceed with a prosecution we will take action to remove him from the UK as an immigration offender."

Last month the Szubiaks and 29-year-old Tomasz Sopniewski, of Foxglove Way, Luton, who received £1,800 for his part in the sham marriage ring, all pleaded guilty to conspiring to facilitate a breach of immigration law and given six month jail terms, suspended for 12 months, ordered to do 150 hours of unpaid work, and told to pay all of their ill-gotten gains to the authorities.

Drop in Fostering Event
Tues April 17th at Stockwood Hotel, Luton
Please contact 07932 651496 to register

Every child who comes into foster care is different.

There is no 'typical' child we place. Many have faced extreme difficulties. Some are from minority ethnic populations. Some have a range of special needs or display challenging behaviour. Some are in sibling groups which need to stay together wherever possible. All are looking for safe, caring homes with people like you.

From drivers to café workers to engineers, we help all sorts of people become foster carers, supporting them to transform the lives of the most vulnerable and neglected children and young people.

Fostering myths busted!

With over a quarter of people considering fostering, but almost 60 per cent mistakenly thinking they're not eligible, we want to bust the myths and tackle the many reasons people don't come forward:

- I don't think I'm the right age
- I'm male
- I'm gay
- I don't own my own home
- I don't have any children
- I'm single
- I haven't worked with children or young people
- I don't think they recruit carers from my ethnicity
- I can't afford to give up work
- 24-hour support

Why choose Action for Children?

We value our foster carers very highly. Our friendly team will support you, so you can support young people to grow with hope and confidence. We are an experienced UK children's charity who put children at the centre of everything we do. We offer:

- 24-hour support
- continuous training and development
- careful matching
- regular paid breaks when you need them
- competitive allowances and fees
- support groups and social events

Children and young people in your area need foster homes

Could you give children and young people the care and support they need to thrive? If you can offer a safe and caring home, we'll give you excellent training, competitive fees (up to £420 per week), regular planned breaks and 24-hour support. We want to hear from you!

Poor old 'Call me Dave'. He can't even invite a friend round to dinner without finding himself accused of doing it just to help the Tory coffers.

Although to be fair to the press that is what the now resigned Conservative treasurer told undercover reporters could happen.

And Mr Cameron did appoint his friend, Andrew Feldman, to be co-chairman of the Conservative Party, as well as being elevated to the peerage.

What some might call crony capitalism and crony government.

Still, us in the media have to be a little careful when it comes to being critical of free lunches.

In fact I am writing this in a bit of a hurry, as some people, who shall remain unnamed, have invited me for lunch.

They know of course that I cannot be bought and no amount of lunches will deter me from exposing their shortcomings, should they have any.

But that does not deter some from trying to seek advantage. I do remember a councillor - again no names - being offered a kebab after a few drinks, in an attempt to gain his support, which could have become the cash for donners scandal.

And for a large donation to the present Mrs Lowe's shoes fund, people could come and stay at our country home for the weekend - which is actually the same as our town home.

'Nepotism seems to be alive and well in this Government'

They can come to Sainsbury's with us, watch me do the ironing while the wife has a nap and join in on one of the many family rows and door banging sessions.

We could perhaps sell it, in the same way a former MP of these parts sold guided tours of the House of Commons, to American tourists.

Joking aside, and I was joking, nepotism seems to be alive and well in this Government.

And, when you consider there are less than 700 of them, the number of MPs brought before the courts seems very high.

A business of a similar size would be national news if its percentage of employees who had been up before the beak in recent years was half that of the House of Commons.

We were promised, by all parties before the election, that after the expenses scandal, we could look forward to clean, honest, open Government at all levels.

I am obviously not the only one who was joking.

ONE of the best kept secrets at the moment is that we are going to elect our new boss of the police.

Up until now the police have been run by a police authority, which each year elects its chairman.

This used to be a political appointment when the county council was in charge and I can remember the in-fighting between Labour's Adrian Heffernan and the late Philip Hendry for the Conservatives.

Of late, however, it has been less political and the chairman for the last few years in Bedfordshire, Peter Conniff, is an independent member of the authority. But all is about to change, as we the people will be electing an American style Police Commissioner this November.

A vote will take place across the county and the elected person will be in charge of the Police Authority.

It will once again bring party politics into the equation, as each major party will have its candidate. And independents will find it hard to stump up the money needed for a campaign and the support to knock doors and deliver leaflets.

While it may seem a bit of an irrelevance, the elected Commissioner will have considerable power, and will reflect his or her political party.

So might be worth bothering to vote.

TRAVELLERS have gained access to Stockwood Park for the second time in just three weeks.

A group of around 20 caravans first broke on to the site in Luton on March 16.

After leaving five days later Luton Borough Council began the clean-up - the cost of which is still unknown.

However the council has now confirmed that another group of travellers gained access to the park via the main entrance gates at Farley Hill on Monday, and that the standard legal procedures to get them evicted have been started again.

These latest encampments come just six months after a group of caravans, some of whom arrived from Dale Farm in Essex, were evicted from the site.

A council spokesman said:

IN THE SPOTLIGHT:
Stockwood Park

"Following the group of travellers who gained access to Stockwood Park two weeks ago by breaking the entry gates opposite Whipperley Way, we are looking at increasing security measures which will include a strengthened gate being constructed which be installed in approximately three weeks time.

"We are arranging a meeting of all interested parties including Active Luton, Stockwood Discovery Centre and Baylands Equestrian Centre to see if there can be an agreement for a barrier to be erected at the Farley Hill entrance.

"All parties must agree to lock the barrier after allowing access for delivery vehicles otherwise it would not offer any deterrent to those who wish to access the park illegally."

Service gets thumbs up

AN 'overwhelming' number of ambulance patients reported satisfaction with the emergency service they received, latest survey results have revealed.

Patient survey statistics for the East of England Ambulance Service NHS Trust (EAST) saw 98.6 per cent of respondents who were treated in December describe the service as satisfactory or very satisfactory.

Furthermore, 98 per cent were satisfied that the service met or exceeded their expectations.

Neil Storey, Associate Director of Emergency Operations for EAST, said: "I would just like to say to everyone who has contributed to these excellent results: well done and please keep up the great work."

Simon's preparing for

Simon Stothard

CYSTIC Fibrosis sufferer Simon Stothard has been announced as one of this summer's Olympic torchbearers.

The Luton's Best Award winner spoke to LAUREN ARCHELL about the honour and his hopes to raise awareness of the disease.

WHEN the list of Olympic torchbearers was announced last week, prolific fundraiser Simon Stothard was astonished to be one of them.

The 29-year-old, of Langdale Road in Dunstable, had heard in December that he was being considered for the once-in-a-lifetime role, but believed that he wouldn't be picked.

He said: "It was an honour just to be nominated and that was enough for me. I never thought I'd be chosen."

"All I know at the moment is that I'll be running for 300m in Luton on Sunday, July 8, I don't know where or when yet, although I do have training next month where I'll be taught how to deal with anyone who attempts to jump in front of the flame."

"I'm sure nothing like that will happen, but it brings it home just how big a deal this is."

"I'm obviously excited but a bit nervous that I'm going to trip over, or that the flame will go out - I think there will be a few sleepless nights in the run up to the big day."

As a Cystic Fibrosis sufferer, Simon has always tried to raise awareness and fundraise in aid of the disease, and in recent years has climbed Ben Nevis twice and cycled from England to Germany.

It was for success in these challenges that Simon was handed the 'Adult Achiever' award at last year's Luton's Best Awards.

The lavish ceremony, sponsored by Luton on Sunday, took place at Luton Hoo in December.

However, after hearing he was in contention to be a torchbearer Simon decided he had to do more.

He said: "If people were to ask why I had been picked to carry the Olympic flame, I wanted to be able to tell them about events I'd completed recently, rather than my achievements of years ago."

He stepped up his fundraising campaign, signing up to two dualathlons - which consist of a 5km run, followed by a 20km cycle and another 5km run - and three half-marathons, the last of which is taking place today in Reading.

These feats would be a challenge for any person without the added difficulty of having a life-threatening disease, but Simon takes it all in his stride.

He said: "There are varying levels of the condition and I'm just lucky that I'm able to do as much as I can.

"I take medication in the morning which takes about ten minutes, for some treatment is a full-time job.

"In my case the running and cycling has improved my symptoms and I'm currently fitter than I've ever been.

"What I want to do is raise as much money as possible and more importantly raise as much awareness as possible so people understand exactly what Cystic Fibrosis is."

In his own words, Simon described the disease as the result of a defective gene, which affects the lungs and digestive system being clogged with thick mucus which can result in chronic infections and difficulty digesting food.

In the week before he carries the Olympic flame through Luton, Simon is due to embark on his toughest challenge.

As part of a team of six, he will be cycling 1,000 miles from John O'Groats to Land's End.

The journey, which is the whole length of Great Britain, takes most cyclists between ten and fourteen days to complete, but the team is trying to do it in nine.

Simon added: "I thought the dualatholons were tough but this will be a totally different challenge, I've never cycled consistently for this amount of time before.

"I'm so glad I'll be surrounded by the team for moral support, I definitely wouldn't be able to do this alone."

All money raised will be going to the UK's only national charity dealing with all aspects of Cystic Fibrosis. It funds research to treat and cure the disease, while aiming to ensure that the appropriate clinical care and support is given to sufferers.

If you wish to donate money to Simon and the team ahead of the cycle in June visit www.justgiving.com/endtoend12 or search '2012 for Cystic Fibrosis' on Facebook.

CUP JOY: Luton celebrate winning the East Midlands Cup last year

Turner: We'll go all guns blazing to keep crown

RUGBY UNION

LUTON manager Mark Turner is looking to end the season with another final flourish when they face Bedfordshire rivals Amphill in the East Midlands Cup final on Wednesday. The cup holders were relegated from National League Three London & South East last weekend, but can salvage their season by clinching some silverware. In 2011 they claimed their maiden East Midlands Cup title at Goldington Road, and are now focused on ensuring they retain that title. "We're going in all guns blazing and it will be another local challenge," said Turner. "They're still playing in the league whereas we're looking to end the season on a high. "We want to look forward to a big night and as we won the cup last year we want to keep hold of it." Their opponents reached the final with a victory over Kettering last Sunday, although that was not quite the same team that they are likely to face this week. And the day before it was a 32-3 defeat away to Ampthill that confirmed Luton's relegation from the National leagues. But Turner believes there are aspects of the performance they can draw from, saying: "We're a very young side and the forwards fronted up to them massively. We were very proud of them. "I was watching Kettering before the semi-final and they had a few walking wounded, so I think that game may have been the battle of the second string. "It will be good for a young side to get their hands on the trophy because it sets expectations."

Injury woe hits Luton as cup defence looms

NATIONAL THREE LONDON & SOUTH EAST
LUTON 15
CANTERBURY 60
LUTON fell to another defeat as Canterbury were promoted and crowned champions in yesterday's game at Newlands Road. A competitive first half saw the hosts trailing 15-24 at the break but a succession of injuries in the second period allowed the visitors to take control. Tesh Edwards and Alex Sutherland touched down, with Aiden Kenny converting and kicking a penalty goal, but it wasn't enough against a Canterbury side that has only lost once this season to Ampthill. It is against the mid-Bedfordshire side that Luton will defend their East Midlands Cup crown in the final on Wednesday. Injury problems have dogged the side all season and they've had to field inexperienced teams on many occasions. This week is no different as they face concerns over key personnel Karl Rodell, David Irvine, Sutherland and Kenny.

Dees register a half ton haul in derby destruction

MIDLANDS TWO EAST (SOUTH)
STOCKWOOD PARK 5
DUNSTABLIANS 50
JOE Murphy, Stuart Hall and Gavin Denning finished the game with ten points as the Dees ran riot in their fifth victory in five games. Alex Ayres got the visitors to a flying start after going over for an unconverted try on five minutes. Danny Mills, Denning and Hall then touched down, with Murphy adding the extras, before Stockwood got their only score of the game. After half-time, Dunstable continued to dominate, with Denning and Hall scoring quick tries. One was converted. Duncan Holmes then got in on the act as he went over the whitewash, with Murphy adding two points and Campbell Haig put the finishing touches to a impressive display with a late unconverted try. Both sides could meet again this season in the Beds Cup final if Stockwood can successfully navigate their semi-final with Sharnbrook.

Tyrrell top of the pile and hungry for more

MARTIAL ARTS

A LUTON Tae Kwon Do champion who promised to dominate the international middleweight division has marked his step up from welterweight by clinching the English title. Tyrrell Belony ruled at the lighter category for years, winning multiple home nation titles, European honours and last year becoming a world champion on American soil. He continued where he left off by beating champion James Reed in the 76kg final at the English Championships last weekend.

"By beating him it's made my name in the middleweight division in Britain," he said. "Reed was probably the best fighter out there and I feel like I've got a new hunger now. "I want to dominate this division like I did the old one and I feel really powerful, stronger and more confident at this weight – it feels more natural and I'm kicking and punching a lot harder." His victory is an ominous sign for future challengers as he admitted the switch has allowed him to focus more on his fighting technique, doubling the time he now spends honing his craft.

"Training is different for me now," he said, adding: "I used to have to keep my weight down so I spent more time on fitness and running. "But I've now gone from three hours a week on fight training to six." The Luton Welsh Tae Kwon Do club fighter is now planning his bid for the Welsh title. He is technically unbeaten in the Principality for three years as he clinched the championship in 2010 at welterweight but opted not to defend his crown in the last two years after being asked to invitational fights.

Wilson spot-kick rescues Rovers

EVO-STIK DIVISION ONE CENTRAL
AFC HAYES 1
BARTON ROVERS 1
LEE WILSON'S penalty earned a share the spoils for Barton in a largeley uneventful encounter at Farm Park. Rovers came into the match seeking a victory as it would have put them within eight points of a play-off place with five games to go.

However, they got off to a poor start and AFC's Matt Woods scored a minute before half-time to end a dour first 45 minutes. It was equally uninspiring after the break and it took an hour for the visitors to score, Wilson converting a from 12 yards after Liam McDevitt was felled from a corner. Luke Night had a chance to win the game late on but his effort hit the post.

HOLMER GREEN 2
LEE ROACHE scored twice as Dunstable got their title challenge back on track. Town lost 2-0 at Tring in midweek but back on home soil were two up on the half hour mark after goals from Peter Homes and Roach. But Holmer fought back and reduced the deficit before half-time. Shortly after the restart, Roach crossed for Nathan Frater to finish before scoring his second on 62 minutes, with George Brinkman adding another five minutes later. The visitors then scored a consolation penalty late on but Town are now three points behind leaders Royston Town who won 2-1 against AFC Dunstable.

SOUTH MIDLANDS LEAGUE PREMIER DIVISION
ROYSTON TOWN 2
AFC DUNSTABLE 1
AFC lost away to leaders Royston and the result all but ended their hopes of winning the title this season. Terry Billy opened the scoring from close range on the stroke of half-time after Tony Burnett, Richard Parker and BJ Christie had missed earlier opportunities. But they were made to regret their wastefulness when Royston equalised on 52 minutes before scoring the winner ten minutes later.

SOUTH MIDLANDS LEAGUE DIVISION ONE
LANGFORD 1
ROBBIE O'DELL scored his 19th goal of the season as Crawley made it four wins in seven games. The hosts started well and got their reward when Vinny Shrieves' free-kick was converted by Jamie Warne. However, Langford hit back quickly and equalised within five minutes through Paul Garrett. Crawley then upped their game and restored the advantage through top marksman O'Dell. The striker had failed to find the net in the previous four games but he was on hand to ensure his side went in on top at the half-time interval. The second period saw neither side threaten significantly but the home side were still mindful of the danger of defending a one-goal advantage. Deep into injury time Shrieves, provider of the first goal, secured the points with his tenth goal of the campaign to put Crawley two points behind Kings Langley who occupy the fourth play-off spot.

SOUTH MIDLANDS LEAGUE DIVISION TWO
ADRIAN Millard scored TOTTERNHOE's only goal of the game as they lost 3-1 away to Pitstone and Ivinghoe. The result means Totternhoe have only managed to win once in the last eight games. CADDINGTON bounced back from their defeat to Kent last week with a 5-1 victory away to Hale Leys Utd. ELSEWHERE, THE 61FC made it five games without a point after being thrashed 4-1 at Bletchley Town. Wesley Gittens scored the visitors' only goal. And finally, KENT ATHLETIC failed to make up ground on second placed Mursley United after losing their away fixture at Winslow United 2-0.

Mum's top ripped in an 'unusual' assault

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

A WOMAN had her jeans pulled down and top ripped by two men as she walked home with her children in an unusual assault.

The 23-year old victim had visited a garage to buy some supplies with her two children at 1am on Tuesday when she noticed two men talking to a taxi driver who was sitting in a silver car close to Leagrave Railway Station.

She continued to walk home towards Dallow Road and along Beechwood Road before she noticed the same two men behind her.

When she reached an alleyway close to the shops on Beechwood Road one of the men pulled her pushchair from her hands and the other forced her into the alley before pulling her jeans down and ripping her top.

The victim shouted and struggled with the man before he and his accomplice ran from the alleyway and up Beechwood Road.

She was shocked by what had happened but quickly retrieved the pushchair which contained her two sons, aged two months and two years, who were both unharmed and asleep.

A man with an Asian appearance was cycling along the road and stopped to help the victim but she was afraid to speak to him and he left the scene.

The victim then phoned the police who attended the scene and launched an investigation.

The first offender is described as a man with an Asian appearance, approximately 6ft tall, with a moustache and in his mid 30s. He wore all black clothing. The second offender was also in his mid-30s, slightly shorter than the first and he also wore all black clothing.

Detective Constable Gemma Ebberson, investigating, is keen to trace the cyclist who offered to help the victim, the taxi driver who was seen talking to the offenders and anyone who may have information relating to this investigation.

DC Ebberson said: "This was an unusual assault which left the victim traumatised and with facial bruising. Luckily her children were fast asleep during the incident and unaware of what was happening."

Anyone with information can contact DC Ebberson, in confidence, on 01582 473410.

Mile run for Relief

MEMBERS of the Alive 'N' Kicking programme completed the Sport Relief mile last weekend.

The scheme is based in Luton and is designed for families with children aged between five and 15 years, who are above a healthy weight for their age, height and gender.

The programme is commissioned by Luton PCT and has been implemented to enable a sustained and long-term movement towards a healthier weight in overweight and obese children.

The 17-strong team of staff and children completed the run around Stockwood Park to help raise money for charity, but also as part of their exercise and keep fit programme.

Your bin – move it or lose it

Luton Borough Council is reminding residents of the importance of promptly removing your refuse bin from the pavement after it has been emptied.

Bins that are left out permanently cause inconvenience to neighbours and pedestrians, particularly for people with disabilities and parents using pushchairs.

The Council requires that all bins are removed from the pavement within 12 hours of a collection.

If your bins are left out continuously, then they could be taken away and alternative arrangements made for waste collection from your address. Enforcement action may also be taken.

number to call.

Before you visit A&E, call 111. It's available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and calls are free, including from mobiles.

If you do need an ambulance, one will be sent just as quickly as if you had dialled 999.

Every child who comes into foster care is different.

There is no 'typical' child we place. Many have faced extreme difficulties. Some are from minority ethnic populations. Some have a range of special needs or display challenging behaviour. Some are in sibling groups which need to stay together wherever possible. All are looking for safe, caring homes with people like you.

From drivers to café workers to engineers, we help all sorts of people become foster carers, supporting them to transform the lives of the most vulnerable and neglected children and young people.

Fostering myths busted!

With over a quarter of people considering fostering, but almost 60 per cent mistakenly thinking they're not eligible, we want to bust the myths and tackle the many reasons people don't come forward:

- ▶ I don't think I'm the right age
- ▶ I'm male
- ▶ I'm gay
- ▶ I don't own my own home
- ▶ I don't have any children
- ▶ I'm single
- ▶ I haven't worked with children or young people
- ▶ I don't think they recruit carers from my ethnicity
- ▶ I can't afford to give up work
- ▶ 24-hour support

Why choose Action for Children?

We value our foster carers very highly. Our friendly team will support you, so you can support young people to grow with hope and confidence. We are an experienced UK children's charity who put children at the centre of everything we do. We offer:

- ▶ 24-hour support
- ▶ continuous training and development
- ▶ careful matching
- ▶ regular paid breaks when you need them
- ▶ competitive allowances and fees
- ▶ support groups and social events

Children and young people in your area need foster homes

Could you give children and young people the care and support they need to thrive? If you can offer a safe and caring home, we'll give you excellent training, competitive fees (up to £420 per week), regular planned breaks and 24-hour support. We want to hear from you!

Deaths

Mackrael Dorothy Passed away quietly, her husband at her side in the Warwick Hospital on the 16th March 2012. Aged 82. Following a tiring and distressing battle against cancer. With her strong and charismatic character she was the best possible partner for Alan who will be lost without her. Dorothy also leaves behind her only daughter Jane who she loved dearly, although perhaps without always showing it, and two lovely grandchildren. Dorothy with her big personality will be sadly missed.

What is Easter?

Easter celebrates the resurrection of Jesus, which according to Christian belief happened on the third day after his crucifixion. In the Roman Catholic Church, Easter is an eight-day feast called the Octave of Easter. Many Christian denominations celebrate this resurrection on Easter Day or Easter Sunday. The first Easter eggs, dating back thousands of years were painted red and the tradition of painting eggs (goose, duck or hen) continued and became more elaborate through the centuries.

The first chocolate eggs appeared in the early 1800s, although the nature of chocolate (at that time) made creating a hollow egg something of an achievement. A hundred years later the improved chocolate making process plus mass production created the commercially available, relatively low cost, chocolate Easter Egg and within the following hundred years it became the dominant gift for Easter. As well as the giving and receiving of traditional gifts, Easter is also a symbol of spring approaching with, hopefully, better weather & longer days. The extended Easter weekend is also an ideal chance to get together with family and friends to enjoy the activities on offer in Luton.

THE ARTIST/MONSTER IN PARIS (PG)

The Alban Arena, St Albans

Various times on Wednesday, 1.30pm & 7.30pm, and Saturday, 7.30pm

THE Alban Arena continues its fantastic film season with Oscar-winning The Artist.

Outside a movie premiere, enthusiastic fan Peppy Miller literally bumps into the swashbuckling hero of the silent film, George Valentin.

The star reacts graciously and Peppy plants a kiss on his cheek as they are surrounded by photographers.

The headlines demand: "Who's That Girl?" and Peppy is inspired to audition for a dancing bit-part at the studio.

However as Peppy slowly rises through the industry, the introduction of talking pictures turns Valentin's world upside down.

Continuing the fabulous children's matinees on Saturday at 11am and 2.30pm is Monster In Paris (U), set in Paris, 1910.

Emile, a shy movie projectionist, and Raoul, a colourful inventor, find themselves embarked on the hunt for a monster terrorising citizens.

They join forces with Lucille (played by Vanessa Paradis), the big-hearted star of the Bird of Paradise cabaret, an eccentric scientist and his irascible monkey to save the monster, who turns out to be an oversized but harmless flea, from the city's ruthlessly ambitious police chief.

With tickets only £5 matinee and £7/£5 concessions for evening screenings, don't miss out on your chance to see these popular new releases.

PERSPECTIVES: LENNY HENRY – FINDING SHAKESPEARE

ITV1, 10.15pm

In 2009 Lenny Henry made his debut as Othello at the West Yorkshire Playhouse; Henry's performance was hugely praised, and the production transferred to the West End. More recently he's starred in the National Theatre's acclaimed take on The Comedy of Errors. Not bad going for a guy who once claimed he had a deep-seated aversion to Shakespeare, especially his "gobble-de-gook" language. Now Henry wants the rest of us to embrace the Bard, just as he's done, and he makes a start by hosting this documentary.

Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price. Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which satisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness.

The New Twingo Renaultsport 133

The changes to the facelifted Renaultsport version of Twingo are immediately apparent at the front, including the new Renault visual identity of its more humble sibling, combined with the added visual drama of a new dynamic grille design with four lights and a front bumper incorporating an F1-style blade. This detail, which now runs across the full Renaultsport range, alludes to Renault's success in Formula 1.

From the back, the halo model in the brand's city car range, sports several model-specific additions including a black rear spoiler, a special rear bumper incorporating a diffuser and aerodynamic extensions on the rear wheel arches.

On the inside, the performance aura of the flagship Twingo continues with Renaultsport yellow stitching on the steering wheel and seats, together with white detailing for the top of the steering wheel, seat backs and cushions, rev-counter surround and air conditioning controls.

Aside from its new body-colour F1-style blade, core equipment on the latest revised Renaultsport includes 16" alloy wheels, Bluetooth™, cruise control, electric Gloss Black door mirrors, ESC (with on/off switch), speed limiter, extra tinted windows and tailgate, Renaultsport exhaust with chrome tailpipe, plus Twingo's versatile independent sliding and folding rear seats

Since its launch in September 2008, Twingo Renaultsport has emerged as a top-three seller in its class, with sales totalling more than 10,000 vehicles.

CARETAKERS: Paul Carden (top) and Alan Neilson (bottom) will take control of the Luton team for the trip to Gateshead anger at the directors' box. Immediately after the defeat the manager refused to resign and vowed to fight on but a seventh straight game without a win was the final straw and has seen his tenure ended with immediate effect.

Town sack boss Gary

It leaves assistant manager Alan Neilson and first team coach Paul Carden in charge of the side for Tuesday's trip to Gateshead.

A statement from the club said: 'The board have reluctantly come to the decision following the team's poor run of recent form that has seen the Hatters slip to sixth position in the Blue Square Bet Premier after a run of just one victory in seven league fixtures.'

'With promotion still the club's objective, the board felt it necessary to relieve Gary of his duties following Friday night's 2-1 home defeat to York City at Kenilworth Road.'

'Prior to this decision, Gary had vowed to fight on despite recent poor results but, having failed to see a satisfactory improvement in performances and results which had been promised by himself and the players, the board had no option in making the decision to terminate his contract.'

'The board felt the manner of the recent performances and results were unacceptable and while they believe it is right that Gary is, ultimately, accountable, they have also been dissatisfied and surprised with the attitude of certain members of the playing staff over the past month.'

'Gary has been accepting and understanding of his departure and has been dignified and loyal to the club throughout.'

'The club will now focus its attention on appointing a new manager to take it forward in the final month of the campaign in a bid to earn a position in the top five of the table.'

'Alan Neilson and Paul Carden will take charge of the team for Tuesday night's important Blue Square Bet Premier trip to Gateshead on Tuesday night.'

'The club will be making no further comment at this stage.'

Luton need Easter miracle to make play-offs as axe falls on under-fire Brabin

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

james.cunliffe@lutononsunday.com

EVEN in the face of furious uproar from the fans, the mantra didn't change. But Gary Brabin was in a party of one when he crowed that the Hatters are still on course for promotion after Friday night's 2-1 defeat at home to York.

It was a statement he'd employed on nearly every interview he conducted before and after games, often when his side had flattered to deceive.

And, in the end, the latest repetition proved to be the straw that broke the camel's back as he was sacked yesterday – and, no, this isn't an April fool's joke.

The hope must be that a new manager can spark a Jesus-like resurrection because barring that, or proof of the Easter Bunny's existence, Luton's third season in the non-league wilderness is unlikely to be their last.

With the Blue Square Bet Premier play-offs the very least required of Town this term, the month of March has seen them lurch to such a position that they may, unthinkable, miss the party altogether. Who'd have thought that for Lent they'd simply given up fighting?

The defeat equalled the club's worst run of seven games without a win since they were relegated from the Football League in 2009.

Still, in the wake of another capitulation Brabin, for the umpteenth time, stated that his side are good enough to go up.

Not on the evidence we've seen so far.

The league table doesn't lie and with only seven games remaining Luton sit outside the top five, three points off the pace.

That doesn't seem insurmountable but Friday's game once again showed an inability to defend for a full 90 minutes and, despite new signing Andre Gray's second goal in two games, they still cannot find the net with the regularity that would suggest promotion is a reality.

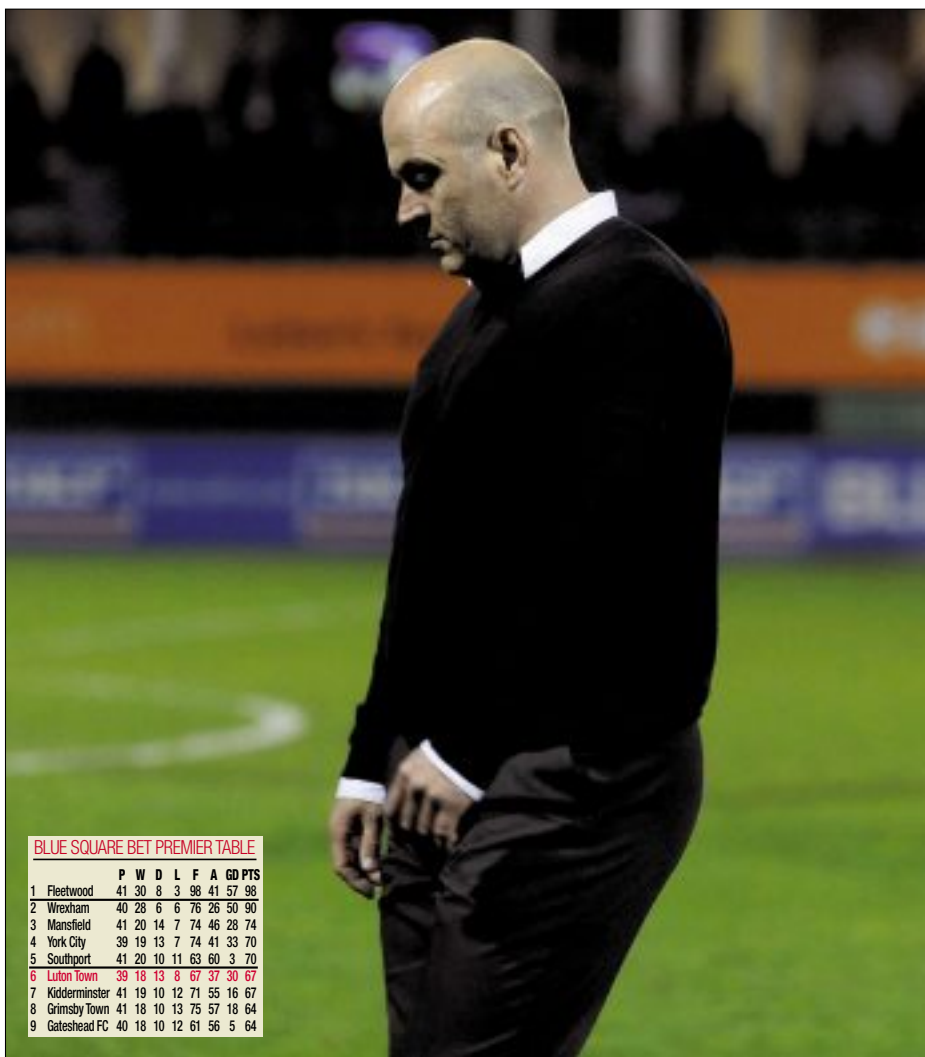

On Friday Brabin said: 'We've got games in hand so there are definitely going to be a few twists and turns, I can guarantee that between now and the end of the season.'

Now, Alan Neilson and Paul Carden will be at the helm to experience any such plot developments.

It's true, with games in hand on Southport and Mansfield the landscape may yet change, but this side have long since passed the point where those six points are nailed on.

Now the platitudes must change, because too often it sounded like the club was in the territories of both denial and blind hope. Sadly, in terms of the latter, close cousin Lady Luck left Luton many a year ago.

It's now abundantly clear that playing the 'Luton way' – if that is indeed Brabin's tactic – is a prize that can only be redeemed in the Football League.

END OF THE LINE: Gary Brabin cuts a despondent figure on Friday night

Down in the non-league Luton must learn to kick, bite, scratch and claw their way out of the situation they're in – and fast.

But in order to do that a first 11 must be quickly decided on, with players put in their proper positions. The time for experimentation has long since passed.

It's not doing a disservice to players in the fifth tier of English football to suggest that they haven't the ability to continually operate in a changing side.

And in that regard, the buck certainly stopped with the old boss.

But the players must take some responsibility too.

Formations and team selections aside, there was no excuse for the scandalous lack of marking that allowed Patrick McLaughlin to fire in York's equaliser on Friday.

Equally baffling is Town's Jekyll and Hyde nature, because for 25 minutes of the first half they bossed the game. Then as the woodwork rattled from City's Lanre Oyebo's pile-driver, so did they.

This month has had a touch of Groundhog Day about it in that Luton have forgotten how to both hold a lead or mount a comeback, so the crowd had almost an hour to get used to the fact that the visitors would inevitably get back into the contest.

But in the immediate aftermath, the fan fervour to see Brabin replaced has done its trick.

He wasn't going to fall on his sword and said: 'I think if we win promotion at the end of the year, some of them [fans] might forgive me for some of the performances and results this season.'

That day, if it comes at all this term, will see another man take the plaudits.

But now the axe has been wielded, who's to say that the problem has been solved?

Little more than a year ago Brabin's predecessor Richard Money was effectively hounded out.

Just before he left he told fans: 'Be careful what you wish for.'

The club got change and it proved to be for the worse.

Whoever next assumes the hot-seat has got a hell of a job on his hands.

Hatters axe Brabin

Newsham claims shock pole for BTCC campaign curtain-raiser

MOTORSPORT

DAVE NEWSHAM has taken pole position for the first race of the Dunlop MSA British Touring Car Championship's season at the Brands Hatch circuit today.

The Scot, driving a Vauxhall Vectra for the Luton-based Team ES Racing team, set a best lap of 48.483s early on.

All the fancied front-runners then had their attempts thwarted by 'traffic' on the cramped Brands Indy circuit and could not beat him. It meant a career-first pole for Newsham who will line up at the front of the starting grid for the first of the three races.

Worcestershire's Matt Neal, the reigning champion, was second fastest in his Honda Yuasa Racing Team Honda Civic ahead of Hampshire racer Robert Collard's eBay Motors BMW.

Lichfield's Andrew Jordan equalled Collard's time to end up fourth in his Pirtek Racing Civic and it could have been higher had he not stumbled across the slowing car of Newsham's team-mate and Team Principal Chris James on his final flying lap. Collard's partner Tom Onslow-Cole, from New Malden, was fifth ahead of Oxford's Jason Plato, the double Champion an impressive sixth in his MG KX Momentum Racing MG6 on its debut outing.

Newsham said: "I'm very surprised because we had some problems in the earlier practice sessions but over the moon at the same time."

"Our race pace seems good as well and I'm certainly not fazed at all by starting from pole position – I've had plenty of experience of that in other formulae. Besides, I'm here to win."

Before qualifying James said: "The team have done a fantastic job in the lead up to Brands Hatch with all the preparation work put in to ensure the cars will be running smooth out of the box."

GARY Brabin was yesterday sacked as Luton Town manager after Friday's 2-1 defeat at home to York City.

Artist Interview

SWAY LEVELS UP

Have you been to Luton before Sway?

I have, I've had a few gigs in Luton before. My sister and little cousin also went to uni there

How would you describe your music?

My music is inspirational, aspirational, uplifting, word play is always interesting, but overall my music is fun and very me

Where do you get your inspiration from?

I get my inspiration from so many things. The people around me, friends, family, life, situations. Everything I see has an influence on me and can be the inspiration behind any one of my songs

What do you love about performing live?

I love being able to interact directly with the audience and seeing the crowd's reactions and people enjoying the music I've created or that I enjoy

What do you see as your greatest achievement so far as an artist?

Having my last single 'Still Speedin' reach the top 20 in the chart at one of the hardest times of year to release music for a new artist or even an established artist. That for me was really great, especially with it being the first single from the Deliverance album

From the line up on Saturday 7th July, who are you excited to see?

To be honest I'm excited to see everyone but if I had to choose one I'd say Lady Leshurr

Who would you love to perform with on a festival stage in the future?

It would be great to be on stage with Chris De Burgh

How do you choose what tracks to perform and when do you decide this for the Love Luton 2012 Festival?

I generally go by what I feel the audience will like and the energy of the crowd. I've got such a range of music sometimes it can be hard to select which tracks people would want to hear, I'm always bound to miss out someone's favourite

How do you use your music and lyrics to connect with your fans?

I try to put things in a way that people can understand and can relate to. I put myself in everything I do so that when I put it out there for everyone to hear it's 100 per cent me people are getting. My music is about being positive and enjoying life so when people hear it I want it to make them want to do better for themselves and achieve more

What can the festival crowd expect from your performance in Luton?

I can say everyone can expect to have a great time during my performance
